At COSTI, we understand that opportunity means different things to different people. By filling people’s lives with opportunities for success, we’re helping build a strong and prosperous community.

COSTI provides the means to a brighter future.
PRESIDENT’S ANNUAL REPORT MESSAGE

It takes a village... This phrase comes to mind when I reflect on the past year. In 2007, what COSTI defines as “community development” represented the organization’s focus and greatest area of growth. Services that cater to the individual alone, and to his or her transition to Canadian life are not enough. Equally important is the need to build welcoming communities. To build successful, thriving communities, systemic barriers must be broken down and a network of community supports created; leadership and capacity building must also be developed. These are critical aspects to achieving a harmonious, inclusive and equitable multicultural society. COSTI makes a significant investment in community development and takes a broad-based approach that is intrinsic in all service areas. COSTI staff contributed over 12,000 hours and participated in over 40 sector-specific, ethnoregion-specific and issue-specific work groups and coalitions – whether to develop or coordinate services among providers, support a local community initiative, conduct research, or raise awareness and recommend solutions to policymakers. COSTI also supports sector capacity building through projects that extend resources and support to various community agencies through resource development, training and partnerships.

Some highlights from the past year include a new Young Canada Works, Multicultural Internship Pilot Project funded by Canadian Heritage, which saw 13 interns from racialized communities develop career skills through a paid 9-month internship at 13 local community-based agencies in the GTA; the creation and dissemination of a multilingual public awareness campaign on de-mystifying homelessness; participation in the Community Social Services Campaign raising awareness of the importance of and the need to reinvest in community-based social support services; research on problem gambling in immigrant communities; the Job Search Workshops program in Ontario, the Family Violence Initiative, the Problem Gambling Program, the Newcomers Connecting to Trades Apprenticeship project. The Newcomers Connecting to Trades Apprenticeship project is a paid 9-month internship at 13 local community-based agencies in the GTA; the creation and dissemination of a multilingual public awareness campaign on de-mystifying homelessness; participation in the Community Social Services Campaign raising awareness of the importance of and the need to reinvest in community-based social support services; research on problem gambling in immigrant communities; the Job Search Workshops program in Ontario, the Family Violence Initiative, the Problem Gambling Program, the Newcomers Connecting to Trades Apprenticeship project.

In countless ways throughout the organization, COSTI is proud to contribute its knowledge, experience, expertise and resources to building communities and a country that truly reflects our multicultural fabric. Ultimately, life becomes much easier when you are part of a network of friends, family...a community.

PRESIDENT

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR’S ANNUAL REPORT MESSAGE

One of two principles that has contributed to COSTI’s success is a preference to provide immigrants with a range of services in one location that address a variety of settlement needs. The second principle is a preference to involve other community agencies in the provision of those services. Whenever we have been able to achieve this mix, immigrants have connected with the appropriate service at the appropriate time in the evolution of their needs while benefiting from the special expertise provided by our partner agencies.

The most significant service development for COSTI this year has been its partnership with four other community service agencies to develop a service model that builds on these principles. A community planning process initiated by the Human Services Planning Coalition of the Municipality of York Region and led by York Region Neighbourhood Services, resulted in the development of a coordinated and comprehensive service model that we are calling the Welcome Centre. The model has the following features:

- One-stop service; under one roof
- A holistic flexible approach
- A broad range of cross-sector services and expertise
- A coordinated, integrated case management system

The concept starts with the client connecting with a caseworker who will remain a constant for the immigrant and who will facilitate services as the client engages in a variety of programs over time. The Welcome Centre provides an inventory of core services that include English language classes, childcare, settlement counselling, accreditation and qualifications assistance, translation services, and job search. In addition, the Welcome Centre provides a hosting service that invites other community agencies to complement the in-house services. Already, commitments have been made by the community legal clinic, public health and a seniors’ service to add their expertise to the mix of interventions.

The first Welcome Centre is now operating in Vaughan with COSTI as the lead and with four core partners that include Catholic Community Services of York Region, Centre for Information and Community Services (CICS), Job Skills, and York Region Neighbourhood Services. The funding that flowed from the Canada-Ontario Immigration Agreement made this major initiative possible. While Citizenship and Immigration Canada was the major funder, all three levels of government participated in its development. The intention is to establish a series of Welcome Centres to serve the needs of immigrants across the region.

York Region’s rapid growth makes the Welcome Centre an ideal response to the disconnection that many newcomers feel from needed resources. It provides a highly visible concentration of services to ease their journey as active, participating members of our society.

Mario J. Calla
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
In an effort to remain relevant and responsive to the ever-changing needs of our clients, a number of new initiatives were launched in 2006/07. UNC Level 6 classes were introduced in our Toronto and Richmond Hill locations; COSTI’s North York Centre added a literacy language instruction program for newcomers that are illiterate in their own language and who have not had the opportunity to attend school in their country of origin; Enhanced Language Training (ELT) programs were extended to five locations in Toronto and York Region, with a focus on learning English specific terminology and “Canadian” workplace communication skills to over 180 internationally trained professionals. Building upon best practices derived from the online courses delivered to accountants/financiers during the previous year, this year online courses were developed and delivered to professionals in the nursing/healthcare and information technology sectors.

“Thirty-four computer training courses were offered during the past year, with an average success rate of 87%.”

COSTI’s computer and skills training services offer yet another range of options from which clients can select the most appropriate intervention relevant to their specific needs. Thirty-four computer training courses were offered during the past year, with an average success rate of 87%.

ASPECTS–Online completed its second full year of service, successfully delivering online sector-specific terminology and “Canadian” workplace communication skills to over 180 internationally trained professionals. Building upon best practices derived from the online courses delivered to accountants/financiers during the previous year, this year online courses were developed and delivered to professionals in the nursing/healthcare and information technology sectors.

In May 2007, a new model of service delivery will allow individuals to have access to a variety of services to meet their employment needs. More emphasis is being placed on adults, internationally trained professionals and tradespersons, and apprenticeship, with eleven of COSTI’s Human employment programs directed largely towards newcomers.

In 2006/07, staff worked with 1,800 employers and 26,584 individuals seeking employment services.

COSTI renewed its partnership with Pro Bono Law Ontario, Torys LLP, TD Bank and MRSI Consulting, providing internationally trained professionals and newcomer business persons with an alternative to salaried employment, by exploring entrepreneurship opportunities through business development workshops and one-to-one consulting.

In June 2006, the Specialized Employment and Training Services (SETS), formerly the Rehabilitation Services program, merged with Employment Services.

SETS continues to address the needs of multilingualized clients through the Ontario Disability Supports Program and Ontario Works, as well as the Workplace Safety and Insurance Board.

In 2006/07, staff worked with 1,800 employers and 26,584 individuals seeking employment services.

Costi’s Toronto Regional Immigrant Employment Council (TREICO), led a new goal of matching 1,200 internationally trained professionals with established Canadian professionals to mentor them on occupation-specific aspects of their job search.

COSTI’s Brampton Employment Services (COSTI-E) partnered with the Canadian and African Business Women’s Association to host a program of introductory workshops for women interested in exploring small business development in the importing/exporting industry.

In addition, COSTI continued to maintain its focus on assisting individuals to make the most of their skills, work experience and education, as they enter or re-enter the labour force.

In January 2007, a significant number of employment programs were transferred from the federal government to the Province of Ontario.

The Provincial government’s new one-stop model of service delivery will allow individuals to have access to a variety of services to meet their employment needs. More emphasis is being placed on adults, internationally trained professionals and tradespersons, and apprenticeship, with eleven of COSTI’s Human employment programs directed largely towards newcomers.

In addition,
SETTLEMENT, HOUSING, FAMILY AND MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

CLIENTS SERVED
Settlement Services: 8,867
Housing Support: 9,201
Family and Mental Health Services: 1,736

Over 45,000 services were offered to 19,824 individuals seeking settlement, family counselling, housing and mental health services. Service expansion saw new partnerships established, as well as a number of off-site locations secured in an effort to respond to client needs.

COSTI’s Settlement Services are designed to respond to the needs of both newcomers to Canada and long-term residents who encounter challenges in accessing services. Lack of fluency in English and cultural barriers are common issues identified by COSTI clients. These needs have remained consistent from the past year. 7,797 individuals sought help with the completion of government application forms for immigration, social housing and citizenship, with an increasing number of clients requesting assistance in accessing subsidized housing and other supportive services.

Family and Mental Health Services worked with over 1,461 individuals seeking culturally competent counselling and psychiatric services in the Italian Canadian community in Toronto and York Region. The Group Treatment model resulted in an increase in services – this model motivates clients to stay in treatment longer, and also provides staff with the opportunity to assist additional clients in need of treatment and assistance. Staff continued to work with Italian Canadian women diagnosed with depression, and also conducted pain management groups, as well as family education workshops on mental illness. COSTI’s Problem Gambling staff continue to work with ethnocultural organizations and communities within the Province in the development and implementation of prevention strategies that are culturally and linguistically appropriate. Public awareness campaigns utilizing various media approaches, research, workshops, and conferences coordinated and hosted by COSTI, have resulted in a broader understanding of the impact of gambling and addiction on individuals and their families.

COSTI’s Reception Centre continues to provide temporary accommodation and initial settlement services to Government Assisted Refugees referred to COSTI by Citizenship and Immigration Canada, and to refugee claimants through the City of Toronto’s Hotel Services. 2006/07 saw an increase in special needs cases, with over 60% of Government Assisted Refugees arriving at the Centre with medical, mental, family reunification, family separation, and family disintegration issues. In addition, the Client Support Services Pilot Project was launched this past year. The objective of the pilot is to assist refugees residing in the greater Toronto area, in identifying their settlement needs, accessing community resources and participating in community activities within the first twenty-four months of their arrival to Canada.

“Street to Homes”, a new outreach initiative launched through COSTI’s Housing Help program and funded by the City of Toronto, enhanced COSTI’s capacity to deliver specialized services to chronically homeless individuals presently housed but in need of extensive follow-up services to facilitate their reintegration to permanent accommodation. Using a holistic approach to finding permanent solutions for individuals living in vulnerable housing conditions and/or on the street, COSTI continues to operate a rent bank and drop-in services. Staff provide assistance with housing search support, crisis intervention, document completion, life skills coaching and workshops on tenant rights and responsibilities.

WOMEN, SENIORS’ AND YOUTH SERVICES

CLIENTS SERVED
Women: 2,992
Seniors: 660
Youth: 5,200

Through a wide variety of programs and services, COSTI staff continue to assist women of diverse backgrounds and experiences in overcoming economic, health, legal, and cultural barriers. “Women of Courage” an online training and support program, launched by COSTI in partnership with Humber College, BDO Dunwoody, and Manpower Inc. in November 2006, and funded by the Ontario Women’s Directorate, provided the opportunity for forty abused or at-risk women to receive online training and certification as Computerized Accounting Clerks. In addition to the Violence Against Women Program, and our ongoing work with the Italian, Hispanic, and Portuguese communities, COSTI expanded support groups and information sessions on health, parenting, pre-employment and education services to women who speak Mandarin, Tamil and a number of African languages. This year, over 100 women graduated from the Home Childcare Provider Training Program, equipping them with the skills and expertise they need to start their own business.

COSTI continues to provide youth with the services and support they need to achieve their goals and aspirations. In addition to employment planning and preparation programs, young people have access to a variety of services and programs, including the Summit Job Service and KickStart employment programs, the Action for Youth Summer Camp, and the Success through Youth Leadership and Empowerment Program (STYEP) – a program that engages young people and provides them with opportunities to develop leadership skills and express themselves through social and recreational activities.

Isolation and loneliness are common problems among the seniors we serve. Limited knowledge of English and limited financial resources result in reliance on their children and a lack of independence. COSTI’s Seniors’ Services continue to engage seniors through recreational, educational, and cultural activities, as well as information, referral, and supportive counselling. Over 120 seniors enjoy active membership and attend daily activities at the COSTI Elderly Persons’ Centre, while Hispanic and Bosnian seniors continue to receive support and general counselling services.

“COSTI’s Seniors’ Services continue to engage seniors through recreational, educational, and cultural activities.”
MISSION STATEMENT

COSTI provides educational, social, and employment services to help all immigrants in the greater Toronto area attain self-sufficiency in Canadian society.

COSTI, founded by the Italian community to meet a shortage of services for immigrants in the post-war era, is today a multicultural agency that works with all immigrant communities having a shortage of established services.
